

Marcel Martel

Biographical Note

Institution:	York University
Board position:	Chair, ASPP Academic Council
Highest Degree:	PhD York University
Current Position:	Avie Bennett Historica Canada Chair in Canadian History at York University

Biography

Already a member of the ASPP Academic Council, Marcel Martel is holder of the Avie Bennett Historica Canada Chair in Canadian History at York University. He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada. Martel is a Professor of History at York and a specialist in twentieth-century Canadian history. He has published on nationalism, relations between Quebec and the French-speaking minorities of Canada, public policy and counterculture, moral regulation, deviance, drug use, and RCMP surveillance activities. He holds a BA from Université Laval and both an MA and PhD from York University, and is former Chair of the Department of History at York.